Short Bio
Dr. Ara Salibian is the Pearl Stamps Stewart Associate Professor of Surgery in the Division of Plastic & Reconstructive Surgery at the University of California, Davis. He is the Director of Microsurgery and Lymphedema Surgery as well as the Director of the Center for Lymphatic Disease. Dr. Salibian received his medical degree from the University of California, Irvine, and subsequently completed his plastic surgery training at the NYU Hansjörg Wyss Department of Plastic Surgery in New York City. He then completed a fellowship in microsurgery at the University of Southern California, focusing on breast reconstruction, lower extremity salvage, and lymphatic surgery. Dr. Salibian's clinical interests include microsurgical breast reconstruction, lower extremity reconstruction, and lymphatic surgery. His research focuses on improving outcomes in both implant-based and autologous breast reconstruction and using advanced imaging technologies, such as ultra-high-frequency ultrasound, to improve outcomes in reconstructive microsurgery and supermicrosurgery for lymphedema.
