Short Bio
Cristiane M. Ueno, MD, MBA, is a Brazilian-born, board-certified plastic surgeon and Associate Professor of Surgery at Indiana University School of Medicine. She earned her medical degree and completed her initial plastic surgery training in Brazil before moving to the United States. She subsequently spent nearly two years conducting basic science research in wound healing at the University of California, San Francisco, under Professors Stephen Mathes and T. K. Hunt. Dr. Ueno then completed general surgery and plastic surgery training at Indiana University. Following her training, Dr. Ueno practiced in rural Appalachia at West Virginia University for five years. She later moved to the West Coast, where she served as Chief of Plastic Surgery at Kaiser Permanente Washington. She subsequently returned to academic medicine at The Ohio State University before rejoining Indiana University. She currently serves as an Associate Professor of Surgery and Medical Director of Perioperative Surgical Services at IU Health Fishers. Her clinical interests include general reconstruction, breast reconstruction, gender-affirming surgery, burn care, skin cancer treatment, facial trauma, hand injuries, and complex wound care. Dr. Ueno has also served as a Plastic Surgery Foundation Visiting Professor, sharing her expertise in surgical education, leadership, and the delivery of plastic surgery care across diverse practice environments. https://www.thepsf.org/documents/Programs/Professors/Ueno.pdf
