Short Bio
Dr. Hirohisa Kusuvara is Clinical Professor and Chief of the Department of Plastic, Reconstructive, and Aesthetic Surgery at Kindai University Nara Hospital, Japan. His primary specialties are hand surgery and reconstructive microsurgery, with particular interests in fingertip replantation, fingertip reconstruction, and functional restoration of the upper extremity. He has extensive clinical experience in microsurgical reconstruction for complex soft tissue defects and hand injuries. His academic interests include peripheral nerve regeneration and artificial nerve research, developed through both basic and clinical studies. He also engages in supermicrosurgical procedures including lymphatic surgery. Through clinical practice, research, and education, he continues to pursue less invasive and function-oriented reconstructive approaches to improve outcomes and quality of life for patients requiring hand and reconstructive surgery.
