Short Bio
Dr. Laura K. Tom is an Associate Professor in the Division of Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery at Oregon Health & Science University (OHSU) in Portland, Oregon, USA, and serves as the Traci A. Parker Endowed Professor for Lymphedema. She is a board-certified plastic surgeon specializing in complex reconstructive surgery, microsurgery, and lymphatic surgery. Her clinical practice encompasses breast reconstruction, lymphedema prevention and treatment, oncologic reconstruction, extremity reconstruction, and advanced microsurgical procedures. Dr. Tom's research focuses on innovations in lymphatic surgery, advanced lymphatic imaging, cancer survivorship, and patient-centered outcomes in reconstructive surgery. Prior to joining OHSU, she practiced at MedStar Washington Hospital Center in Washington, DC, where she helped develop multidisciplinary breast reconstruction and lymphatic surgery programs. She is actively involved in clinical research, education, and international collaboration, and frequently presents on advances in microsurgery, reconstructive surgery, and lymphatic care.
